

Please pay attention to the media networks' responsibilities to their listeners. Sinclair Broadcasting's plan to air the story "Stolen Honor" against John Kerry weeks before the election, with no equally significant counter-story is unbalanced journalism and bordering illegal. We are touting ourselves as a country of freedom and democracy right now; we better walk the talk. We cannot condone huge corporations such as Sinclair Broadcasting in their attempts to distort the public's perception of political situations toward their own preference. It's poor ethics in journalism and it's un-American.
